

Welcome to Ira's Newsletter

THANK YOU FOR SUBSCRIBING!

[BREASTCANCER.ORG
PODCAST](#)
READ BELOW

[WELCOME TO STARS
HOLLOW PODCAST](#)
TAKE A LISTEN

ATTACHMENT ISSUES
FOLLOW MY BLOG
FOR MORE WRITING

IRA B. FEINSTEIN

BREASTCANCER.ORG

Breastcancer.org Our Community S

En Español Search  DONATE JOIN

Symptoms & Diagnosis	Treatment & Side Effects	Day-to-Day Matters	Know Your Risk	Get Involved
Your Diagnosis	Surgery	Nutrition	Understanding Risk	Support Our Mission
Understanding Breast Cancer	Breast Reconstruction	Exercise	Breast Cancer Risk Factors	Join Our Community
Screening and Testing	Radiation Therapy	Hair, Skin, and Nails	More Topics »	Share Your Story
Types of Breast Cancer	Chemotherapy	Breast Cancer and Your Job	More Topics »	Listen to Our Podcast
More Topics »	More Topics »	More Topics »	More Topics »	More Topics »

IRA'S STORY:
LIVING AS A TRANS MAN WITH A BRCA1 MUTATION

LISTEN TO THE PODCAST EPISODE

Ira's story: A trans man with a BRCA1 mutation      Keytruda approved for PD-L1+ triple-negative BC      Tips on staying active during quarantine      Watch: Tonya's preventive mastectomy      Learn more about Citizen

Two NEW Podcast Interviews!

I was so excited to see a recent podcast interview published on the home page of breastcancer.org (above photo). Huge thanks to Jamie DePolo, Senior Editor, for her thoughtful questions about my experiences with the BRCA1 mutation and about my book, Cut Off.

Thank you to Rachel Foss, Illustrator and Podcaster, of Welcome to Stars Hollow, who argued with me about Red Vines, discussed why consent is good and Paul Thomas Anderson is bad, and reminisced about how terribly uncomfortable it is to be a teenager.